Parents/Guardians, Educators:

Are Challenging Behaviors Impacting A Child's Ability to Learn?

Individualizing positive behavior supports (PBS) for a child can be a very effective tool to improve a child's quality of life, at home and at school.

This workshop will explore the process of PBS.

- Understanding why a child is engaging in problem behavior
- Implement interventions
- Preventing problems
- Replacing behavior
- Managing consequences

And then look deeper at the components of an adequate Functional Behavior Assessment (FBA), linking the behavior support plan to the FBA, and implementing assessments and interventions.

Participants will also be invited to a follow-up activity.
